

Step Out

Kansas City, Missouri | 2018

Do you ever wonder what you're missing, not seeing, or overlooking? Things right in front of you? I do.

I've used these steps in my walk route for four years. For two years I've been very aware of seeing the unformed cross, but this one was right under my feet!

Even when I'm used to seeing crosses formed in the non-traditional way, the everyday cross, I'm still surprised where I find them. A cross, right there on the steps I've crossed so many times. I just had to notice. I just had to "see" it. And I had to "know" it in order to "see" it. A statement of life. What else do we overlook in our daily walk, in our daily rush, in our day?
